Rugged Roofing recently completed a reroof of our four buildings. Over the years, several storms had done considerable damage to our roofs. Dan Galloway worked with an insurance adjuster and convinced them of the necessity to make repairs. Dan then worked with our insurance company through every phase of this project.

The crews from Rugged were extremely professional. They did their best to keep all equipment and material out of the way, so that there was minimal impact to our business. They did everything they said they would do, and did it well.

I would recommend Rugged Roofing and Construction to anyone with roofing needs, and would not hesitate to use them in the future.

Sincerely,

Adam Drake
